PR and Social Media

LET NFI BE YOUR PUBLICIST

Press Release

A sample press release is enclosed in your company's certification package. Newspaper business editors or community news editors like to publish stories about professional achievements. Contact your local newspaper to learn the name of the appropriate editor. Then, simply fill out the press release form and NFI staff will send a tailored release for you. Be sure to include your insurance broker, too.

Offer Experts

Let newspaper editors know that your company's NFI Certified Specialists would be available to answer any questions for stories about fireplace construction, hearth choices, fire safety and other news topics.

Be Web Wise — Connect on the Internet

Be sure to mention your employees' NFI Certifications on your company's website, and add a "backlink" to www.nficertified.org so customers, building and insurance officials can verify your certifications on the web. And you can expect calls from customers who found your company listed on www.nficertified.org, thanks to the backlink. Also, don't forget to add your company listing to your HPBA affiliate's website.
